

I have always grown up with the belief that our information systems were unbiased. That premise is now gone and currently we are entering a time of great concern for our future freedoms. If sinclair broadcasting wanted to show the life of John Kerry they could show " Going Upriver- the long war of John Kerry" or at the very least a combination of differing views. Their biased decision and past practices make us all ashamed of what we have allowed our broadcasting system to become. Boycoting them is our only option if you refuse to control their biased decisions. Thanks, Mike Gardner
